

BOARD ELECTS H. ROBBINS AS DPU TREASURER

ACTING TREASURER SUCCEEDS
DR. SALEM B. TOWNE TO IMPORTANT POST

IS GRADUATE OF DEPAUW

Mr. Robbins Also To Have Charge Of
All Purchases Of University
In Future

Harold Robbins, of Greencastle, was made treasurer of DePauw University by the board of trustees in their meeting here recently. Mr. Robbins had the title of acting treasurer for the last year due to the resignation of Dr. Salem B. Towne, who held the office of treasurer for many years.

Mr. Robbins had been employed in the treasurer's office since December of 1923, and through the action of the trustees became head of this department succeeding Dr. Towne.

Mr. Robbins is a graduate of DePauw University receiving his degree in 1924. He worked under Dr. Towne during the second semester of his senior year and became a full time employee after graduation.

Mr. Robbins has had considerable experience in the work of a treasurer and with finance. In addition to the seven years he has been in the treasurer's office at DePauw, he worked for four years at the Central National Bank here in Greencastle.

In addition to making Mr. Robbins treasurer, the board of trustees on the suggestion of Dr. Oxnam, placed Mr. Robbins in charge of purchases. His work will now include not only the duties of the office of treasurer, but will also supervise purchases. Heretofore, each department bought independently of the university and of other departments. Now it is all centralized in Mr. Robbins' office and Mr. Robbins will act as advisor on all recommendations and requisitions for supplies.

His new duties will entail a study of markets and the centralization of purchasing on the part of the university is expected to save money through this greater familiarity with the market and market conditions.

It is believed here, that Mr. Robbins is the youngest college treasurer in any college the size of DePauw. He is but 29 years of age, which is quite young for a man in the responsible position of treasurer of a college with the endowment the size of DePauw.

Since Mr. Robbins has had the office in charge as acting treasurer, a number of changes have been made which have been quite beneficial in a monetary way to the University.

Putnam Girl Held At Indianapolis

LEON FARROW, NORTH SALEM, AND AGNES BEAMER HELD
BY POLICE

A girl said to be Agnes Beamer or Beaman, daughter of Charles Beamer or Beaman of Bainbridge Route 1, is held at Indianapolis with Leon "Skinny" Farrow, of North Salem, son of George Farrow, former residents of Floyd township in Putnam county.

Farrow was said to be driving a Ford Model A car, carrying license plates which had been stolen from a Ford Model T car, wrecked north of town last week by Rev. Arthur Swarens, student minister, who rooms at the home of George Knauer, south Locust street. Farrow had his own plates hidden under the seat of his machine, it was said.

Swarens notified police recently that his wrecked car had been stripped of all accessories and parts. Whether Farrow was implicated in this act, was not known.

Indianapolis police called Marshall Otto Dobbs Friday, asking whether Farrow was wanted here, and whether he had been in trouble here. Marshall Dobbs said that Farrow had given a bad check for $11.80 to King, Morrison and Foster, Ford agents here, recently. This check came back Thursday marked no funds. Farrow is said to have admitted the bad check to Indianapolis police, inasmuch as they asked the local officer regarding this check.

Farrow, age about 26, is said to be married, and to live in Indianapolis.

ATTACKED BY COW

Mrs. Lucy Hutcheson north of Relsville was attacked by a cow Friday morning. She received a broken right hip and both arms, were badly cut and bruised. She was brought to the County Hospital.

NOT A SPORTING ACT

Members of the Chamber of Commerce reported on Friday morning that a number of toy balloons that were sent up Thursday afternoon, were shot down by men with rifles and by youngsters with air guns and sling shots.

These balloons which advertise the planes of the Indiana Air Tour coming here Tuesday, should be allowed to go their course and not shot down. This is not a sporting act especially as tickets attached to the tiny gas filled bags are redeemable in merchandise at several stores in the city.

CARS DAMAGED IN CRASH ON WASHINGTON ST.

NO ONE INJURED IN ACCIDENT
THURSDAY AFTERNOON.
CHARGE FILED

A charge of operating an automobile without a driver's license was filed in city court Friday against Chas. Murphy, 22, Greencastle youth, following an accident on east Washington street about 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

Murphy pleaded guilty to the charge before police judge Glenn H. Lyon and was fined $1 and costs.

Murphy was arrested after the Buick car which he was driving, collided with a Chrysler coupe driven by Clarence Knauer, of Madison township.

Knauer had just turned west on Washington street off Bloomington, when the westbound car driven by Murphy, collided with his machine. Knauer's car had a fender and door damaged while the Buick driven by Murphy turned on its side, damaging one side and breaking the windshield. Murphy suffered a skinned elbow.

Murphy was accompanied by Forest Akers while Knauer had his wife and baby with him. None of the others were hurt.

The Buick car is owned by E. H. Bradley, mattress dealer. Murphy said he began work for Bradley on Thursday morning.

57 TUBERCULAR CATTLE FOUND IN PUTNAM CO.

DR. E. E. COSHOW REPORTS
WORK COMPLETED IN FOUR TOWNSHIPS

A total of 57 tubercular infected cattle have been found to date in Putnam County, according to Dr. E. E. Coshow, federal inspector, who has been supervising the tests in this county during the past few weeks.

The work has been completed in four townships, Dr. Coshow said, while local veterinarians are working in eight other townships. Jackson is the only township where the work has not yet been started, but an inspector is expected to begin operations there within a week.

Dr. Coshow said the infected cattle are condemned and sent to stock yards for slaughter and inspection to determine whether they can be used as beef. A large majority of the infected cattle were found in one herd, it was reported, although Dr. Coshow declined to say anything definite on it.

CENSUS REPORT

The census report for the counties of the district, as printed in Thursday's Banner, show that every county lost in population during the past ten years.

The loss in Putnam county was only 752, the smallest of any of the counties of the district. The loss was from 19,880 to 19,128. Among the losses were the following:

Vigo, 1,074.
Clay, 2,975.
Hendricks, 3,586.
Vermillion, 4,390.
Parke, 2,318.

Hendricks county, which is almost entirely an agricultural district, showed the greatest loss, outside of Vermillion county, which would be expected to lose heavily because of the closing up of many of the mines in that section and the drying up of the bootlegging joints and the general shifting of the population as a result of these two changes during the past few years.

The fact that Putnam county practically held its own was attributed by some to the gain of almost 25 per cent in Greencastle, which is included in the county's total.

FARM BUSINESS SUMMARY FOR 1929 IS GIVEN

FOURTEEN FARMERS WHO KEPT RECORDS HAD AVERAGE IN-
COME OF $515 FOR YEAR

FIGURES PREPARED BY PURDUE

Some Farmers Worked Year For Nothing. Reasons For Low Income Given

The Putnam County farm business summary for 1929, prepared by the division of farm management of Purdue University Department of Agricultural Extension, is of interest to farmers, and others who depend upon the soil for their living.

The fourteen farmers who kept records in the Putnam county co-operative farm accounting project during 1929 made an average income of $515. The income ranged from an average of $1,611 for the five most profitable farms, to an average of minus $431 for the least profitable farms making a total variation of $2,042 between the two groups.

These incomes represent the labor and management wage of the operator or what was left for the operator for his labor and management after deducting all expenses, allowing an interest charge of five per cent on the total investment and a charge for all unpaid family labor.

In addition to the above income each family secured produce from the farm, such as milk, butter, eggs, meat, garden products, fuel and the like. To obtain an income figure calculated on a basis as nearly comparable as possible to that received by men in other businesses, these together with the use of the farm home should be included with the income figure given. At farm prices, according to studies that have been made in other parts of Indiana, it is estimated that these products from the farm and the use of the home would amount to at least $400.

The income of these farms should not be considered representative of all farms in Putnam county. Surveys in other areas indicate that the average income on farms keeping records is higher than on all farms in the same area. A large group of records gives a more representative summary than does a small group like this. However, many good points may be gained from the summary of this number of records.

It should also be remembered that these records are for one year only. The weather and market conditions may materially change certain factors from year to year.

The labor and management income of the Putnam County account cooperators averaged $196 higher in 1929 than in 1928. The income for thirteen farms averaged $319 in 1928. While records were included from nine of the same farms each year this increase is due in part to the higher average return made by the new co-operators added in 1929.

The gross receipts averaged $4,259 per farm. Receipts from livestock products made up 81 per cent of this amount. Of the remainder, 15 per cent was secured from crops and four per cent from miscellaneous items. A large share of the livestock receipts came from hogs than from any other class of livestock. Cattle and dairy products were second in importance with poultry and sheep next in order. Of the total livestock receipts, the receipts from hogs amounted to 58 per cent, from cattle and dairy products 24 per cent, from poultry, 14 percent and from sheep four per cent.

As usual, variations in farm receipts were larger and more responsible for the differences in incomes upon the farms than were the variations in operating expenses. The farm receipts per acre farmed (total land in farm except that in woods not pastured and waste land), were $15.44 for the most successful group compared to $8.09 for the least successful group, a difference of $7.35. The operating expenses were $9.86 per acre for the most successful one-third and $11.33 for the least successful one-third, a difference of $1.47 in favor of the most successful farms.

The factors largely responsible for a large gross income per acre are:

1. Percentage of crop land in most profitable crops.
2. Crop yields.
3. Amount of livestock kept (as measured by feed fed per acre).
4. Efficiency in handling livestock (as measured by the receipts per dollar's worth of feed fed).

In Putnam County in 1929 all of these factors were important in accounting for the difference in gross receipts on the most profitable and least profitable farms.

The most successful farms had 80 per cent of their rotated land in corn wheat and legumes compared to 65 per cent on the least successful farms. They were also larger, having 171 acres of land in crops compared to 111 acres on the least successful farms. They grew a larger acreage of all crops except rye, soybean seed and timothy. Their acreage of clover hay was over three times as great, being 31 acres compared to 10 on the least successful farms.

The crop yields on the most profitable farms (all crops considered) averaged 33 per cent higher than the crop yields on the least profitable farms. The corn yield averaged 12 bushels, the oats 10 bushels, the wheat five bushels and the clover seed .52 of a bushel more than on the least profitable group. The hay yields were slightly lower, however, on the most profitable farms.

More livestock, as measured by dollar's worth of feed fed per acre farmed, was kept on the most profitable farms, $10.60 worth of feed being fed on the most profitable group compared to $8.77 worth on the least profitable group. The investment in livestock was $8.48 per acre farmed on the least profitable group compared to $7.41 on the least profitable group. Most of this difference was due to a large number of cattle being kept on the most profitable farms.

One of the most important advantages of the most successful operators was their efficiency in the handling of livestock. For each dollar's worth of feed fed they received $1.25, while the least successful operators only received $0.71. This variation in returns was the result of many factors such as: Kind and grade of livestock kept, method of feeding, sanitary practices followed, method of marketing, and price received for products.

While the operating expenses were $1.47 less per acre farmed on the most successful farms, the receipts, it should be remembered, were $7.35 higher. Thus this $7.35 larger income was obtained at the same time the operating expense was reduced $1.47 per acre. The operating expenses were kept low through efficient use of man and horse labor, low machinery, building and fencing expenses and other items resulting from good organization and planning.

Some of the other factors to keep in mind in developing a profitable system of farming are volume of business, diversity of business and marketing practices.

The intolerable outrages of the past year against civic decency and public security in Chicago have culminated dramatically in the murder of Alfred J. Lingle, a newspaper reporter, the declaration read.

"The undersigned newspapers interpret that murder as an especially significant challenge to the millions of decent citizens who have suffered the vicious activities of some paltry hundreds of criminal vagrants known as gangsters.

"Considering the causes and connotations of the unbelievable total of 100 gang murders in little more than a year, we pledge our organizations and our resources to the cleanup of gang, police, official and other public viciousness wherever it may appear, in order that corruption . . . may be brought to an end, and thereby restoring to the citizens of Chicago civic decency and security of life and property."

NEWSPAPERS DECLARE WAR ON GANGLAND

SEVEN CHICAGO PUBLICATIONS
SEEK TO AVENGE DEATH OF REPORTER

EDITORS SIGN ARTICLES

Leading Newspapers Of Windy City
Pool Forces To Battle Criminals
Of Underworld

CHICAGO, June 13 (UP)—Public indignation over the fact that a gangster could murder a newspaper reporter in daylight amid the bustle of a modern city and vanish without trace rolled to new heights today.

Seven powerful newspapers pooled their pitiless powers of publicity; ministers exhorted 2,000,000 church members to action and industry and commerce pledged its millions to rid Chicago, once and for all, of the underworld forces that made such a murder possible.

Since St. Valentine's Day in 1929 Chicago has witnessed more than 100 gang murders but not until Alfred J. Lingle, reporter of gangland for the Tribune, was assassinated, did public opinion harden so rapidly as it has this week under the editorial lash.

Shortly after the murdered reporter was buried yesterday with the solemn pageantry of religion and the more colorful trappings of the military, there appeared in four afternoon newspapers a "declaration of war" on gangland. Today three morning papers bore the same announcement. Couched in blunt and forceful language, the brief "war declaration" that "civic decency and security of life and property must be restored to Chicago," was signed by the publishers of the Evening American, the Daily News, the Evening Post, the Daily Illustrated Times, the Herald and Examiner, the Journal of Commerce and the Tribune.

The announcement left no doubt in the minds of readers that the power of the Chicago press was definitely arrayed against gangdom.

"The intolerable outrages of the past year against civic decency and public security in Chicago have culminated dramatically in the murder of Alfred J. Lingle, a newspaper reporter," the declaration read.

"The undersigned newspapers interpret that murder as an especially significant challenge to the millions of decent citizens who have suffered the vicious activities of some paltry hundreds of criminal vagrants known as gangsters.

"Considering the causes and connotations of the unbelievable total of 100 gang murders in little more than a year, we pledge our organizations and our resources to the cleanup of gang, police, official and other public viciousness wherever it may appear, in order that corruption . . . may be brought to an end, and thereby restoring to the citizens of Chicago civic decency and security of life and property."

The "queen" is never shipped alone, as others are included in the boxes to act as buffers during transit. Last year Mr. Baldwin shipped several hundred "Queen" bees.

Seagrave was taken from the water by a rescue craft and rushed to a hospital where he died. His auto speed record of 231 miles per hour was made at Daytona Beach, Fla.

CAROL IS BUSY

GERMAN WINS PRIZE FIGHT ON FOUL BLOW

REFEREE GIVES HEAVYWEIGHT
CHAMPIONSHIP TO MAX
SCHMELING

JACK SHARKEY BETTER MAN

Decision Was Tough Break For Boston Pug Who Had German
Boxer Outclassed

NEW YORK, June 13 (UP)—The fist world has a new heavyweight champion today, but the decision which brought that honor to Max Schmeling, the fortunate youth of Germany, still ripples in the breasts of some 80,000 spectators who witnessed the unfortunate ending to the battle for the title.

With but six seconds to go in the fourth round of last night's spectacular fight in Yankee Stadium, Jack Sharkey, who had outclassed Schmeling in every way, whipped home a terrific left hook which landed below Max's belt.

The German, a badly beaten fighter until that moment, went down helpless and incapacitated, and after an inexcusable delay and amidst a scene of tremendous confusion, Referee Jimmy Crowley awarded the fight and the championship to Schmeling.

No other decision was possible, since the only judge in a position to see where that swishing left hook landed declared it a palpable foul.

The better man—Jack Sharkey—once more fell victim to the ill-fortune which has dogged his footsteps across the years in which he has sought the heavyweight title.

Max Schmeling is the new champion of the world, but champion by virtue of the same good luck which has marked his career. The marble base of the "Tunney-Muldoon Trophy" will be carved with the name of the German youth, but no one among the vast throng which packed every nook and cranny of the towering Yankee stadium last night left with any doubt that Jack Sharkey was the better man.

For three rounds, the Bostonian, proud of his chance to represent the United States in an international bout of such importance, trained to the minute, and fighting the greatest fight of his career, toyed with the young man of the Rhineland. In the third round, Schmeling was all but out on his feet, a battered and beaten victim of a worthy successor to the long line of heavyweight champions from John L. Sullivan down through Gene Tunney.

Five minutes later, after the confusion caused by the indecision of the referee, the clamor of seconds and managers and upon the word of a lone judge, Harold Barnes, it was Max Schmeling instead of Jack Sharkey who was declared champion of the world.

Never before in prize ring history has a heavyweight title been awarded on a foul. Yet in the final analysis, no other verdict was possible.

BALLOONS RELEASED

Additional balloons advertising the All-Indiana Air Tour which will visit Greencastle next Tuesday afternoon from 1:30 to 3:30 o'clock, were released from trucks on the square Friday afternoon. Some trouble was experienced in releasing the balloons Thursday afternoon when nails in the top of the truck in which they were confined, started exploding the balloons. This difficulty was overcome Friday when two other trucks were secured from which to release the balloons.

Many of the balloons bore tickets which merchant members of the Greencastle Chamber of Commerce, who are sponsoring the balloon advertising idea, will redeem with merchandise.

Miss Alice Wallace Is Wed To

Dr. Krider Of Greencastle

Dr. Krider is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Krider of Brazil. Clarence Carson, organist, played a program of bridal airs while the ushers, Dr. Delmar Curry and Carl Brinkman, seated the guests.

Palms and ferns and clusters of roses and daisies formed the background for the ceremony, which was read by the Rev. Lewis Brown, rector of the church. The center aisle was lined with tall cathedral candles on each pew. Candles in branched candelabra lighted the chancel.

Miss Katherine Hanna, maid of honor; Miss Christina Valentine and Miss Ellouise Myers, bridesmaids, wore dresses fashioned alike of chiffon, in princess style, with very deep V neckline in back, with circular collar forming tiny cap sleeves. The long skirts were in circular flounces. They wore cut crystal necklaces, the gifts of the bride, and carried arm bouquets of roses. Their slippers matched the dresses. Miss Hanna wore orchid, with orchid flowers in her hair. Miss Myers wore pink and Miss Valentine green.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore ivory satin in princess style, fitted very tight and circular skirt, which swept into a train in back. Her veil of tulle fell from a cap of duchess lace. She carried Easter lilies tied with a shower of baby breath and tulle.

Mrs. Wallace wore a gown of beige lace and Mrs. Krider wore beige chiffon. Both wore shoulder bouquets of pink roses. Miss Ethel Krider of Brazil, sister of the bridegroom, wore green chiffon, green slippers to match and a shoulder bouquet of roses.

A reception at the Columbia Club followed the ceremony. The large wedding cake formed the centerpiece for the bridal table, and was surrounded by pink flowers.

Dr. and Mrs. Krider left for a motor trip South, the bride traveling in a suit of white wool crepe, white linen shoes and white felt hat. On their return they will be at home at the Cole apartments, Washington street, Greencastle.

Dr. Krider is a graduate of the Indiana university school of dentistry and is a member of the Delta Sigma Delta dental fraternity.

Other out-of-town guests, besides the bridegroom's parents and sister, were Mrs. Elizabeth Schultz, Mrs. Melvin Arbuckle, Malcomb Shaffer, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Penman, all of Brazil; Mrs. Donald Donno of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. John Jaqua, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hosea, Dr. John Egan, Ralph Snively, all of Greencastle, and Miss Helen Service of Greenfield.

CRAWFORDSVILLE JAIL BREAKER SURRENDERS

William Ellis, 22, convicted forger who broke jail on the night of May 13, is back in the county bastille and Noel Arden (Pete) Bottorf, 21, the youth who smuggled the saws into the jail, is under arrest charged with being an accomplice in the delivery.

Ellis surrendered to Otto Beiderstedt at the police station Thursday morning at 5:15 o'clock. He told the officer that he was tired of evading the law and dogging officers at every step.

Officers are still searching for Harry Smith, 25, identified as participant in a number of holdups and robberies, who escaped with Ellis. The pair separated within a few minutes after they left the jail.

Following the surrender of Ellis, Bottorf was sought out and arrested. After a short questioning, he made a full confession of the part he played in the jail delivery.

Bottorf told police that he was standing in front of one of the jail windows when Smith called out through the window to him and asked him to buy a saw. Bottorf agreed and Smith threw him the money.

Bottorf went to the Crawfordsville Hardware company where he purchased two saw blades and took them to the jail. He said that he tossed them through a window to Smith.—Crawfordsville Journal-Review.

VONCASTLE

Big Highlights in Voncastle's Program Opening Tonight. Mystery Serial Starts Today

The following are the highlights of the program booked for showing at the Voncastle Theatre tonight and Saturday, matinee and night:

A musical comedy with action, romance, thrills. Armida and Don Terry singing solos and love duets, Marjorie Kane doing a hoop-a-hoop-a-de song and dance. Riding rurales and a rousing song. An outdoor picture that's different!

The daring of a young woman who, while himself hunted by the police for murder, would come out into the open and hunt for the gang that stole his herd!

The pursuit of the Rurales, hot foot on the trail of the hero, wanted for murder—and the hero racing on his horse and seeing his girl on the road, sweeping her up and taking her along to prove to her that he wasn't lying when he said he loved only her.

A wild horse, weirdly mottled, and swimming a swift-running, swollen stream and attacking a big stallion. Biting, kicking, screaming horses in a wild battle.

The attack of the horse thieves. A whole gang against three without means of escape.

To save the girl from death the hero puts himself in the hands of the police, though it means the firing squad for him.

The comedy situations between Slim and Nina. Determined to marry the man who once ran away from her, Nina is always getting Slim's savings away from him—and he is trying to get it back, but Nina gets him and the money in the end.

Added to the Voncastle's program today and Saturday will be the first chapter of the new mystery serial—"The Voice from the Sky," a thrilling out-door continuous story in ten chapters playing each Friday and Saturday. A cartoon screen song, "Blowing Bubbles" will add pleasing variety to this bill.

Each child attending the Saturday matinee will be given a free ticket to
